

Zach Holbrooks is the Executive Director for the South Plains Public Health District (SPPHD). SPPHD is a full service health district which covers Gaines, Yoakum, Terry and Dawson counties. He is both a Licensed Registered Professional Sanitarian and a TCEQ Designated Representative.

Zach graduated from Texas Tech University in 1995 and then went on to receive a M.A. in Sociology with a minor in Public Administration in 2004.

Zach began working for the Environmental Inspection Services Department with the City of Lubbock in 2000 as an Environmental Health Specialist and Code Enforcement Officer while he completed graduate school.

Upon finishing graduate school in May of 2004, Zach began working for TDH/DSHS Central Office in Austin for the Bureau of Food and Drug Safety/Food Establishments Group.

In 2008, Zach accepted the position of Environmental Health Manager for SPPHD and moved from Austin back to his hometown of Seminole, Texas. He was promoted to Executive Director in 2012.

Zach is a member of the Texas Environmental Health Association and a board member of the Texas Association of City & County Health Officials.

Zach and his environmental health inspection team have enjoyed serving the City of Levelland since January of 2017 and they are always available to answer public health or food safety questions.
